

about Ingrid Ortmann

I grew up in an environment full of interest in the newest information and to realize goals (for others). Since childhood my intellectual abilities were encouraged. About my sensitivity, I noticed feelings and unspoken information and tried early to grasp the bigger picture. My earliest imprints led to an extreme knowledge and performance orientation combined with a strong intuition and sensitivity, but also a lack of joy, confidence and more.

In only six semesters I completed my studies and graduated as Engineer of Automation technology. At the age of 27, I took over – on grounds of my sense of responsibility, my focus on the essentials and my inner knowing - the responsible project management of a € 8 million development project, which I led successfully from concept to 2 shift production. Further professional responsibilities and accomplishments - as head of department in a medical group, interim manager and project manager in various industries - followed. I have acquired extensive knowledge and experience – among other things in development, psychology, management, processes, organization, technology and logistics – which are of great value.

I consider this time looking back, I have been extremely successful lived some areas in my life and other areas totally neglected. This disregard of other important areas of life led me to dissatisfaction and to inner conflicts. Only through this deep dissatisfaction and the clear inner voice „this does not go any further“, I was willing to go on a profound journey to myself and (finally) also to take responsibility for myself and my happiness.

I allowed myself now, my own conscious and unconscious development- and healing journey to accomplish: Consciously I "updated" my foundations by new knowledge, values and choices. I integrated knowledge among other things from consciousness research, neuroscience, body and healing intelligence and quantum physics. Furthermore, I took conscious orientations (mentally, materially, energetic, spiritually), activations, stem cell methods, energy healing, transformation and integration (of my being and action-aspects). Through practice, integrations and continuous update of the newest knowledge, I get continuously to new horizons and create continuously bigger and more coherent "version of my BEING and expression me" and also wisdom about meta-connections.

I'm still on this adventure trip, which never stops for me. Looking back, more and more ways which I have gone, make from higher perspectives, a real sense. Wisdom revealed themselves to me (sometimes only) in certain areas, processes and experiences. Some qualities - such as inner knowledge, create great order, use of spiritual healing abilities, conversion strength, recognize complex connections and explain them simply - are easy for me. Other roads were a huge challenge for me and brought me in my development process finally to cross my old limits. Also the painful experiences I can accept them more and more in love and integrate them, because of the love - which is integrated into the experience - is revealed to me, when I'm ready for it.

Through my own intense journey, I am qualified to coach, to develop, to support and to educate clients practically oriented, full of inner knowledge and holistic. I like to support you - also internationally - in your consciousness / transformation / healing and development processes. I work with my international clients via new media like "Skype" etc.
